1.3 Management Summary (Organogram):

1.4 What is Internship and Why Internship is Important?

An internship is a planned and regulated work experience that gives people the chance to obtain exposure to a particular profession or industry and practical knowledge. Usually, it is a temporary role for students or recent graduates that offers practical instruction and experience in the real-world. It can be both paid or non-paid. But even being non-paid it is considered totally worth it for shaping up a student's future.

An internship offers a chance to gain advanced knowledge both professionally and personally. Students get an exceptional opportunity to apply theoretical concepts acquired in their classrooms to real-world conditions through internships. As a result, students gain useful insights into their field of study to improve their comprehension and proficiency.

Essential skills including problem-solving, teamwork, interpersonal skills, time management, and resilience are developed in the students. They also learn the etiquette of the workplace.

Working with a variety of people in the field and in the office as a team during an internship helps them to make connections with people of all levels and professions. As a result, their network of contacts in many fields expands daily which is very useful to them in the future for locating new career chances.

When applying for jobs, having internship experience on a resume is quite beneficial as it serves as a trial period and to the employer it is a way of evaluating a fresh graduate's performance for future employment even though they are new in the field.

Experience & Learnings

3.1. Learnings:

Gaining an understanding of the dynamic and fast-paced world of journalism through an internship at a news channel can be a worthwhile experience. It was not an exception for me. Interning with the Entertainment & Lifestyle department of Channel 24 was a lifetime experience. Following are some important lessons I learned throughout my internship:

- 1. Newsroom Dynamics: The characteristics of an entertainment newsroom are set up to make it easier to produce and distribute news and entertainment material. The process encompasses a number of departments and functions, all of which are essential to providing the public with accurate and interesting news. At Channel 24, they have the best team including highly talented editors, news director aka reporters, anchors and digital producers who work their heart and soul to make the newsroom dynamics work efficiently. I was fortunate to get introduced with every aspect of it as I watched part by part how a team executes a show starting from the thought of the news topic to the time it goes live on TV and online sites.
- 2. Interviewing with Verified Facts: Journalism requires thorough investigation and fact-checking, particularly in the entertainment news sector where false information may spread quickly. I learned to control the extent to which I can write about a public figure.
- 3. News Writing and Editing: During my internship at Channel 24, I developed a sharp editorial eye, polished my writing style, and learned journalistic principles which were all necessary to improve my abilities as a writer and editor of entertainment news. I searched new topics on daily basis and through researching about them I wrote several package reports for our reporters with proper content and footage or stealth photos to support the report.

3.2 Technologies Used:

Possessing pertinent skills and being familiar with techniques and technologies unique to the entertainment business are opportunities one gets through an internship. During my internship, I had the privilege to use following tools:

- Adobe Photoshop for picture editing
- Canva for photo editing
- Camera dynamics for better direction
- MS Word for news writing. Etc.

3.3 Special Experience:

Some experiences boost your confidence instantly. During my internship period, I went to the European Film Festival for an assignment with a senior reporter of Channel 24. I was waiting to interview the celebrities attending the festival beside the red carpet and all on a sudden his Excellency Mr. Charles Whiteley, Ambassador of the European Union came to me by seeing a microphone in my hand and asked about me. When he knew I'm a student of Journalism, Media and Communication he asked me about the study curriculum of Journalism in Bangladesh. He continued a long conversation with me about Journalism and my interest. I was thrilled and at the same time amazed by seeing Excellency's interest about a beginner like me. It was a very memorable, unexpected and great experience for me.

I was fortunate to be able to attend the first Celebrity Cricket league of Bangladesh as a reporter during my internship period at Channel 24. The experience taught me a lot. The star studded event gave me the opportunity to interview celebrities like Chanchal Chowdhury, Mehjabin Chowdhury, Afran Nisho etc. I remember sitting beside Chanchal Chowdhury to watch the game and discussing about Entertainment industry with him which was huge honor for me.

The last experience I want to share is the most memorable to me as I even being an intern earned the opportunity of executing one of my ideas to a package report.

During The Football World Cup 2022, I suddenly got the idea of a package report on the topic ‘How people are wearing Jersey not just over World Cup craze but as a fashion accessory too’. I pitched the idea to our head, he liked it and asked me to do the package on my own. I got the unit ready and visited markets like Bashundhara City Shopping mall, Tokyo Square etc. to take interviews of the buyers buying Jerseys of the favorite teams.
